

Lunada Bay Tile Welcomes Ken Milbery, Manager of Technical Support

Lunada Bay Tile is pleased to announce that Ken Milbery has joined the company as Manager of Technical Support. In this role, he will develop installation guides and videos for installers, maintain current testing of tiles and materials, respond to installation questions from tile contractors, and represent Lunada Bay Tile at contractor trainings.

“Ken has years of hands-on experience in the field, and he has a gift for breaking down installation methods into steps that contractors can easily replicate for successful jobsite installations,” said Lunada Bay Tile President and CEO Carl

Steady. “We are pleased he is bringing his experience and knowledge to LBT.”

Prior to joining Lunada Bay Tile, Ken managed regional technical sales for Anaheim-based National Pool Tile Group where he built relationships with architects, general contractors and other industry experts. Earlier in his career Ken managed sales for Super-Krete International, operated as a general contractor, and worked with the Federal Emergency Management Agency. He holds a degree from Brigham Young University.
